Metcam, Inc., Quick Start Partner for Job Creation Training plan for company's expansion signed in Alpharetta, Georgia, Tuesday, April 12, 10:00 a.m.

Precision metal fabricator Metcam is growing in Alpharetta. The company recently announced a training partnership with Georgia Quick Start and Lanier Technical College in support of a 30-job expansion in the company's advanced metalworking operation.

Quick Start will be creating and implementing a training program for the new operation that focuses on quality and productivity enhancement such as Lean manufacturing and ISO principles, as well as leadership and collaboration skills.

"Helping existing Georgia companies grow and stay competitive is a big part of our mission at Quick Start," said Jackie Rohosky, Technical College System of Georgia assistant commissioner of economic development programs and head of Quick Start. "We're honored to partner with Metcam as the company creates additional jobs and builds on its successes."

The Quick Start training agreement is based on Metcam's commitment to provide approximately 30 new jobs for Georgians in the Forsyth and North Fulton area. Quick Start will be designing and developing training material, as well as providing instructors, for the classes.

Metcam's ability to produce the highest quality products, delivered on-time continues to generate new opportunities for growth," states Bruce Hagenau, President of Metcam. "Finding and developing qualified employees is key to helping us make good on the new business agreements we've entered."

The training program involves three distinct partners: Metcam, Lanier Technical College and Quick Start. Each partner will be responsible for the successful completion of this program. The partnership will not end when the Quick Start training is completed. Lanier Technical College will be available to assist Metcam with ongoing training programs.

Russell Vandiver, president of Lanier Technical College said, "Lanier Technical College is excited about the growth at Metcam and is pleased to partner with Quick Start on yet another expanding industry project. The college looks forward to a long term training partnership with Metcam after the conclusion of the Quick Start program."
